The Ole Miss-Meredith Case

We will not attempt to write a story about what has happened at Oxford in the Meredith case because we feel that there is nothing more we could add to what has already been told through hundreds of hours of radio and television time and hundreds of thousands of lines of newspaper space, throughout the nation and even abroad.

BUT—we do want to express our opinion and say that even though Governor Barnett's actions may have "backfired" we still feel that everything he did was true and honorable, with only the thought in mind that his every action was for the ultimate good of his state and his people. And the situation might even have been worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned, had it not been for intervention by the Federal government, in sending federal marshals and troops to the troubled area to take over the Mississippi "crisis" as it has been called.

As far as the colored race is concerned, we have nothing against them, but we do believe in segregation. There has never been any trouble in our community along these lines and as long as some outsider does not interfere we don't believe there ever will be.

The two races have always gotten along well here. And as far as friendship is concerned some of our friends are members of the colored race.

Senator Stennis, in one of his weekly reports to the people of Mississippi, sums up the situation very well. Here is what he says, and we quote:

After the tragedy at Little Rock, it is shocking, to me, that consideration would be given, even for a moment, to the use of troops. The Meredith case, now pending in Mississippi and in the Federal courts, is strictly a civil matter, and all the proceedings in connection with it should be confined to the civil authorities. The Federal government was not a party to the suit. The suit was between the individual concerned and the University of Mississippi. But somewhere along the line, after the case reached the Supreme Court of the United States, the Attorney General intervened, so he said, as amicus curiae. It may be that he was requested by the court to intervene; I do not know as to that. I have before me an excerpt from the New York Times. If it is correct, the court in New Orleans suggested such an intervention in Mississippi, even before the Department of Justice itself thought of acting in such a way.

"There is no need, of course, to review the tragedy of Little Rock. Many legal authorities firmly believe that the use of Federal troops in that case was contrary to the Constitution and the laws enacted by Congress. After Little Rock, I made an exhaustive study of the legal authorities, and came to the conclusion that the use of troops was absolutely illegal. I pointed out in an address to the Mississippi State Bar Convention on May 30, 1958, that the action of the President in that case was without statutory or constitutional authority. Furthermore, I said then that civil remedies should be used in civil cases; and I said that military power for any domestic purpose should never be used in the absence of clear authorization by Congress, if such power is to be used at all. Of course, Congress has not authorized the use of troops in any case of this kind, and I seriously doubt that it would ever even consider the question."

"In Mississippi, more people of two different races are living under one government in peace and harmony than can be found anywhere else in the world. No other situation rivals it or comes anywhere near to comparing with the situation which exists in Mississippi. And until all the outside agitation began, the utmost peace, harmony, good will, and cooperation existed in Mississippi without exception, in day-to-day Christian living. I believe that no situation can be found anywhere else in the world to excel ours."

HIGGASON DEATH AT KEESLER AFB

had served in the Air Force since 1951, and retired in February 1962. He served in Alaska from 1953 to 1955, and was a radar observer and navigator.

His last assignment was with Airborne A. C. and W. Wing at Alis AFB, Mass. Captain Higgason, a native of New Orleans, was reared in Picayune, Miss. He was the son of the late Robert and Viola Tureaud Higgason.

In addition to Mrs. Bontemps, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Madonna Marie Higgason; three sons, Robert, Michael and Billy Higgason and two sisters, Mrs. Douglas Block of New Orleans and Mrs. Jack Stewart of Columbia, South America.

Mr. Mattmuller's office will be temporarily located in the real estate project office, 159 Main Street, Bay St. Louis. Mr. Mattmuller may be reached over Bay St. Louis telephone numbers 467-5479 and 467-5470.

TOURNAMENT

The first General D. O. Hickey Memorial golf tournament, in recognition of one of the founders of the club and a board chairman, will be held Saturday and Sunday at Pass Christian, with Jules Soule as tournament chairman. The event will be a 36-hole medal play for men and women.

The federal government has acquired title to 143.79 acres of land for the Mississippi Test Facility through court action, it was announced by O. B. Moore, project manager of the Corps of Engineers real estate project office in Bay St. Louis.

A "Declaration of Taking" was filed on September 25 in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi, Biloxi Division. At the time of filing, $136,520 was deposited in the registry of the court representing the Government's estimate of just compensation for the taking of the land for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration project.

The court action resulted from inability of the Government and the landowners to reach agreement as to land values in some cases, and because of defective title conditions in other instances. The action is an effort on behalf of the Government to secure an impartial and equitable resolution by the Court of the differences of opinion as to values and to make funds available to the landowners.

All of the lands in the court proceedings are located in Hancock County in the area where outright title is to be acquired. This area is sometimes referred to as the "fee" area or test site itself. This is the first court action or condemnation proceeding, to actually acquire title to the land. (A proceeding filed in federal court on October 25, 1961 merely established the limits of the project.)

Several more "condemnation assemblies" are being processed for early filing. Announcement of each filing will be made. The U. S. Marshal will serve the landowners with notice of the proceedings.

Even after condemnation proceedings are filed, it is possible to settle any case without going to trial through the entering of a "stipulation" on the court records, whereby the Government and the landowner agree on the amount to be paid.

Court matters for Mississippi lands in the project will be handled by Robert E. Hauberg, U. S. Attorney, or his assistant, Edwin R. Holmes, both of Jackson, Mississippi. The Corps of Engineers will work closely with the Department of Justice in matters relating to the court cases or settlements.

THEY CAN BE HELPED

Statistically there are an estimated 435 mentally retarded persons in Hancock County. You can help them by belonging to the Hancock County Association for Retarded Children. A membership drive by this association is now under way and the dues are $4.00 yearly.

These retarded persons in our midst are of different levels of mentality. Of the estimated total of 435, 12 to 15 are severely retarded. Approximately 60 of the retardates are not so severely afflicted and these can learn very simple tasks—how to feed themselves, keep themselves clean, dress themselves. But the largest percentage of our retarded are only slightly afflicted. They range all the way from those who can barely read and write to borderline cases who seem much like normal persons but simply appear dull or slow. There are approximately 350 in Hancock County who fall into this latter class.

But whatever the degree of retardation these people are permanently handicapped. The handicap holds them back socially, educationally, vocationally. Theirs will be lives of limitation.

The Hancock County Association for Retarded Children needs your financial support in order to provide a total program of services for our "almost forgotten" citizens.

STATE FAIR OPENS MONDAY IN JACKSON

Mississippi's biggest show of the year officially gets underway at 1:00 p. m. Monday, October 8, when all exhibits and amusement features of the 1962 Mississippi State Fair will be opened to the public. Regardless of age, there's something to see and enjoy for everyone at this exciting event, often called the "show window" of Mississippi agriculture and industry.

More than 90 outstanding displays and booths will be presented in the exhibit building located near the orange-colored turnstile gates at the front of the Fairgrounds. Fair visitors this year will again be glad that the entire midway has been paved, from front to back gate, and that all of the cattle barns, including the new barns, are connected by covered walkways.

The new 10,000-seat coliseum is a welcome addition to the Fairgrounds, also. This is the first Fair season that it has been used and each evening at 8:00 Kinney Brothers' World's Champion Rodeo will be the featured attraction. TV star Robert Horton, also known as "Flint McCullough of Wagon Train," will appear with the rodeo.

A wide variety of other entertainment and amusement has been planned for Fair Week with the highlights scheduled as follows: Opening Day is also Press Day, with Legislators Day to be observed on Tuesday, October 9, along with Veterans and all service organizations day. State, County and Municipal government officials as well as civic organizations will be recognized on Institutional Day, Wednesday, October 10, while October 11 is to be Farmers and Livestock Day and Aviation Day. A Salute to the youngsters of the state will take place Friday, October 12, which is traditionally set aside as School Day. On this day, the gala Children's Day parade with beautiful floats and marching bands is to be held in downtown Jackson. On the final day of the exposition, Saturday, October 13, Mississippi travelers will be spotlighted.

Many attractions compete for the fairgoer's attention this year. The livestock building and nearby judging arena are a "must" for many, while the commercial-minded visitor will enjoy the exhibits and displays in the Industrial Building. In the Woman's Work

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What's wrong with the fish right now? The water everywhere is clear, the tides are excellent, but the fish seem not to be cooperating. A few speckles are being caught here and there but no report of large catches have been made. As for green trout, the waters hereabouts are extremely salty as far as the Kiln up Jordan River and as far as Pearl River up Pearl River. Of course green trout (Black Bass) are not salt water fish and that salt water affects their striking. Alfred Cope, who might have something when he says the fish are temporarily blinded by the salt water. What ever it is they are not biting at this time.

Noted Monday were several porpoise as far up as the cutoff in Jordan River.

Speckle trout fishing out in the marshes is improving but still not at its best. Cooler weather should improve this condition.

Red fish have let up a bit in Jordan River. They were being caught up to last week. Patience seems to be the answer to catching red fish.

As stated before there are plenty of big fish most everywhere these days. Horace Farr who does most of his fishing along the R. R. Bridge met with an unusual accident Sunday morning. He hooked a big fish and lost him when his line broke. He hooked another big one and his line broke again. His pole flew back and hit him in the mouth. Result his teeth went through his lip making quite a cut.

An old trick that didn't work. An old trick of old times when catching speckles when they are biting is not to bait the hook when other boats come by. Nicky Raulet tried this, but to his surprise he hooked a big speck on an unbaited hook.

HUNTERS ASKED TO PREVENT FOREST FIRES.

State Foresters are warning that with coming of the hunting season many areas of the state are dry and highly susceptible to forest fires.

In some areas there has been a nine-month absence of rain. Hunters should keep matches far removed from dry fuels in the woodlands. Hunters are asked to confine smoking and fires to raked areas.

With the cooler weather and no mosquitoes golfing will again come into its own. The Pass Christian Golf Club will sponsor a tournament for members only (both men and women) this Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 6th and 7th. Jules Soulie, chairman announced.

Play either day, low net, handicapped. This is a tribute and honor to the memory of our beloved member General D. O. Hickey. The winner will be presented with a miniature of the "Permanent Plaque". NO ENTRANCE FEE.

All members are asked to play and enjoy a wonderful time. Louis Sellers on the O. S. T. says he loves fishing but his favorite pastime is catching mullets. He wants to know what is better eating than fried fresh mullet and toasted French bread. It's hard to beat we can assure you.

As to dove hunting there are a few being killed according to Fritz Peranich, Joe Kern and Wop Glover who made hunting trips over the weekend. To remind those hunting doves the seasons are Sept. 8 through Oct. 12, and Nov. 24 through Dec. 23. Bag limit 12 in possession, 24. Better shooting should be had during the second period.

These girls enjoy their sports and participate in them when home on weekends.

For those who don't know catfish is a good fish present in every body of fresh water in the state. They weigh anywhere from 1 pound to 60 pounds. They are caught on most any bait, on set lines, perch poles, rod and reel and are an excellent seafood when cleaned, cut in small steaks or slices and fried. Salt water catfish are not usually eaten.

Catches of shrimp reported have not been too many this season, however, the ones being caught are exceptionally larger running from three to seven inches. They are delicious for cock, tails, salads and appetizing cooked dishes. They are excellent bait for anglers in both fresh and salt water.

Frank Trapani with others was given the works in a Knights of Columbus initiation Sunday. Many Knights from out of town attended the celebration.

A number of racing fans from here have been attending the races at Jefferson Downs in New Orleans weekly. Don't hear how they make out.

It's a pleasure to go fishing lately and not be run over by speedboats and skiers. Some day they will learn that fishermen love to have fun too!

Light breed turkeys being raised total 3,000 this year compared to 4,000 last year. These estimates include young poults shipped into Mississippi, but does not include poults hatched in Mississippi and shipped out of the state.

RED CROSS ANNUAL CONFERENCE NOV. 4-5 IN BILOXI

The Mississippi area of the American Red Cross will hold its annual conference in Biloxi, November 4-5, 1962, at the Buena Vista Hotel. This announcement was made by David Thompson of Meridian, the 1962 Convention Chairman.

While registration and some activity will take place on the 4th, most of the meetings and instruction periods will take place on Monday, November 5, 1962. The highlight of the daytime programs will be the disaster luncheon at noon. This will be a "bomb shelter" type luncheon. The main speaker for this luncheon will be Paul M. Moore, manager, Southeastern area, American National Red Cross.

Since the theme of the luncheon will be disaster service, Moore is one of the most experienced in the country to talk on this subject inasmuch as he began his career with Red Cross 22 years ago in the tornado belt of the United States. He has been Southeastern area manager almost 4 years.

The climax of the conference will be the annual conference banquet at 7:00 P. M. on Monday. The featured speaker for the banquet is to be Robert F. Shea, Vice President of the American National Red Cross. Shea joined the Red Cross staff in August, 1941, and has been vice president since July, 1955. He is responsible for disaster services, for the development of Red Cross civil defense plans, and for maintaining liaison with governmental agencies on all civil defense matters.

Most of Monday morning will be taken up with a first aid and water safety demonstration at the pool, while the general session in the afternoon will have as its theme, "The Volunteer's Responsibility to the Red Cross Chapter". The annual business meeting will also be held during the afternoon session.

Thompson, in making the announcement, made an appeal to all volunteers in the state to make their plans to attend this most important conference.

Rural electrification needs are greater than ever!

After dark, Mississippi twinkles like a vast upside-down sky. These pinpoints of light locate rural homes, farms, schools, industries, and churches. Poultry houses, dairy barns, factories and shops all use the electricity which has transformed so many areas of Mississippi from an era of poverty to one of prosperity.

Across the land there are nearly 1,000 Electric Power Associations serving 17 million people. In Mississippi 26 of these locally owned, locally controlled Associations serve nearly a million people. It comes as a surprise to many however, that one of the biggest jobs of rural electrification still lies ahead.

Rural Americans use four to five times more electricity than was ever anticipated in the beginning. And by current trends, they'll need four times their present power by 1972.

Preparing for this big growth may require larger investments than building original lines. It calls for bigger poles, larger wire, heavier transformers, and more electric power.

Local member-owners of Electric Power Associations may need additional loans to meet this healthy growth, but they're A-O-K borrowers. Throughout the land they've already paid back $1 1/2 billion in principal and interest on loans of $3 1/2 billion.

In Mississippi they're ahead of schedule in repaying their loans, and they intend to stay that way. Rural Mississippians know that electricity has been the most important single element in the change from poverty to prosperity.

ADVICE ON FOOTBALL SAFETY

Football time is here again. All over the land American males are tossing and kicking and running with footballs, all the way from the eight-year-olds in the back yards to junior and senior high and college teams to the big bruisers of the professional leagues. Football is a rough contact sport and inevitably will produce its full quota of bumps and bruises, strains and sprains, cuts and gashes.

The American Medical Association has supplied sound advice on measures to be taken for football safety. A thorough physical examination is highly important for boys preparing to go out for football. Proper physical conditioning hardens the body and increases resistance to fatigue, thus helping to prevent injury. Careful coaching enables the players to perform better and thus become less prone to injury. Coaches now are more than ever before alert to methods of safeguarding their players from injury.

Good officiating makes for better games and also helps to protect players. Officials in the organized schoolboy and college leagues must meet careful standards. Proper equipment and facilities, also, are important to reduce injuries. Good medical care, with a physician in attendance for practice drills and games, is a final major factor in cutting down on serious injuries. If your boy is playing with an organized school team, the chances are good that all of these safeguards are observed. If his playing is done on a vacant lot in the afternoon and on Saturdays, it becomes the parents' responsibility to see that the player has good equipment and that he quits before becoming too tired, the AMA says.

From day to day until all objections, lawfully filed, shall have been disposed of, and all proper corrections made in the roll.

It is further ordered by this Board that notice shall be given to the public and to the taxpayers of said county in the following form:

MEC BOOKLET "TALK MISSISSIPPI" OFFERS SURPRISES

The first concrete highway built in the South is located between Tupelo and Pontotoc. It is still in use.

The most expensive bull in the world, valued at $320,000, was grown by the Circle M Ranch in Senatobia.

Casey Jones, the courageous engineer who was commemorated in song and on a postage stamp, was killed in a train wreck near Vaughn in Yazoo County in 1900.

These interesting facts and many others can be found in the third edition of "Let's Talk Mississippi," published by the Mississippi Economic Council. A host of Mississippi facts and general facts of interest are listed in the 77-page booklet. Some may come as a surprise. For instance: Dental certificates used throughout the nation to encourage school children to have proper care were first used in Mississippi. The world's largest record in corn production on a one-acre plot is held by Lamar Ratliff of Baldwin in Prentiss County.

The world's largest pecan nursery is located at Lumberton. Two Mississippi cows - one owned by Connie L. Ivy of Clarke County, and the other by M. E. Bowden of Horn Lake - hold national milk records.

The world's largest picture frame plant is located in Winona. The nation's largest pickle plant is in Wiggins. The first grade championship fight in American boxing history was fought Feb. 7, 1882, at Mississippi City when John L. Sullivan defeated Paddy Ryan, for the heavyweight title of the world.

OCTOBER IS MIM MONTH IN STATE

The month of October has been proclaimed Colonel MIM Month in Mississippi by Governor Ross R. Barnett.

The proclamation was issued at the request of the distributors committee of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce which is planning a special Colonel MIM promotion in October. Colonel MIM, which means money in Mississippi, is a program urging Mississippians to spend their money at home, but when unable to find what they need in their hometowns to buy within the State. The Colonel MIM idea, which was proposed by West Point newspaper editor, Henry Harris, developed when it was learned that some $800 million and wholesale sales was leaving the state annually.

Scores of Jackson businessmen have visited eighty-four communities in the state expounding the Colonel MIM philosophy. In each community the mayor, Chamber of Commerce president, and newspaper editor were commissioned Colonel MIMs. These Colonel MIMs will come to Jackson on the opening day of the State Fair, October 8, as guests of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce and the Mississippi Press Association, and with their wives will be entertained at a luncheon, given a guided tour of the city, and will attend the State Fair rodeo that evening.

BISHOP GEROW LAUNCHES NEW VOCATION PROGRAM

A new Catholic Adult Education Program for Vocations to the priesthood and sisterhood is being launched this week in the Diocese of Natchez-Jackson, it was announced today.

Sponsored by Most Rev. Richard Oliver Gerow, Bishop of Natchez-Jackson, and directed by Rev. John Scanlon, Director of Vocations for the diocese, the program will be operated on a "parish saturation" basis. All adult parishioners attending Mass in the Catholic churches of the area are being given an attractive, fully illustrated, four-color booklet titled "Parents: You have the Church's future in Your Home." Another booklet, to be distributed in October, is titled "Questions Parents Ask About Vocations."

These are the first in a series of ten booklets which will be distributed at the rate of one a month from September through June, designed to alert Catholic parents to every aspect of vocation problem, and to answer their questions.

As the booklet points out, the Catholic population of the country has increased more than 47% during the past ten years alone. Vocations to the priesthood and the religious life are increasing, but not at the same rapid rate. This is causing concern to those looking toward the future development of the growing Church in the Diocese of Natchez-Jackson, and in America.

The new "saturation" vocation program is designed to rectify this imbalance and to increase vocations in proportion to the population growth. It is addressed to parents in whose hands, Bishop Gerow feels, rests the power to encourage or discourage vocations among young Catholic people.

from the event will go to the Knights of Columbus Priests educational Fund and to the Brothers of the Sacred Heart Order. Advance donations children 25 cents, adults 50 cents. Donations at the stadium gates on Sunday, Nov. 11th will be 50 cents for children and one dollar for adults.
